These plots are located in the northeast section of St. Landry Cemetery a few yards from the entrance gate. They have been tended to by my grandmother and mother for as long as I can remember.

When my grandmother died, my mother kept them up, and when I got older she would get us to help scrape and paint the tombs.

She told me where everybody was buried, and when I got my computer in 1993, I made this record.
